POK AND PRICES.

A Keokuk paper states that some forty thousand hogs are engaged already by the packing houses there.

A Milwaukee paper says nearly all the hogs already come in, and that approximately 20,000 hogs are engaged, while it is probable that the whole amount packed will approach 50,000.

Prices range $4.50 to $5.00.

The Burlington State Gazette notices the commencement of packing operations in that city.

The St. Louis Republican of Saturday, quotes the market at St. Louis as follows:

At Louisville, on Saturday, hogs were quoted at $4.50.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Monday says packers were buying at 50¢, while hogs generally were commanding for $5.25 to $5.50.

The N. Y. Shipping lists say:

Bushels generally remain quiet, though the volume of shipping of last year's crop has been far from that of confidence still so palpably apparent through mercantile circles. The exports of the last few months, however, have been larger than the past few years, consequent upon the rapid increase of railroad and steamship communication, and a greater number of business firms than formerly, did not appear so extensive as it was in former times.

The excitement in the cotton market has abated, and prices of that article and its derivatives have gradually receded. With the great abundance and low rate of money, however, the cotton market is still strong, and the price of cotton is still maintained at other directions, there will most assuredly be another speculative movement in stocks.
